Evidence of Effective Practice

Young Men and Suicide Project (Richardson et al, 2013);

- Developing mental health programmes targeted at young men most in need.
- Consultation with young men in development of programmes.

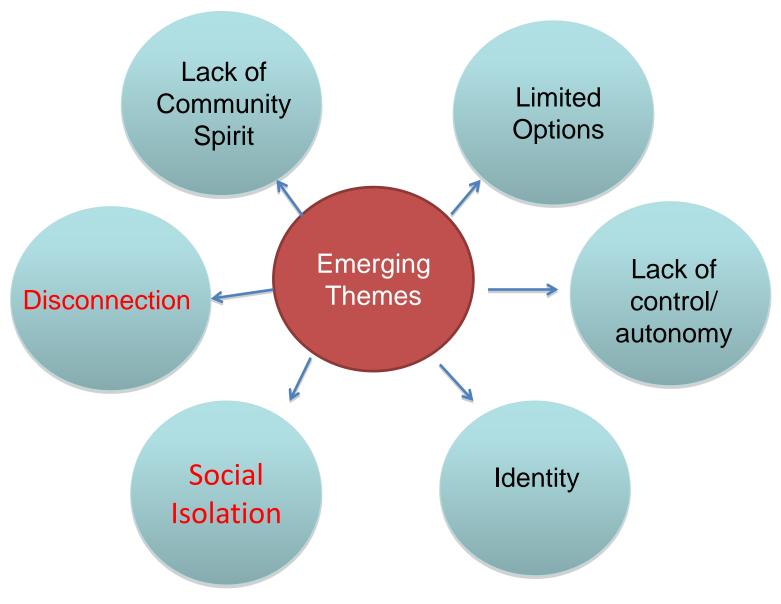

Engaging Young Men Project (Grace et al., 2014).;

• Service provision prioritise needs of young men, collaborative approach with other services.

Ireland National Men's Health Policy (Department of Health and Children, 2009).

• Finding a hook and a 'way in' to appeal to men.

Preliminary Findings

Disconnection –

"...we don't have the time to put into developing something for them (men)". Sandra, Resource Centre. (SP).

"The support is here in the town....opportunities are being offered there the whole time. It's just like, maybe they are not doing it in the right way?". James, Improvement Group (SP).

"When you hear people going on about the resource centre we don't even know what's in it. What's happening in it? Tom, 21.

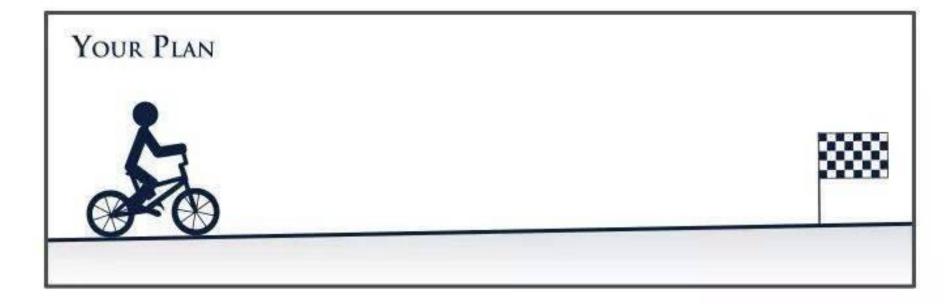

Social Isolation –

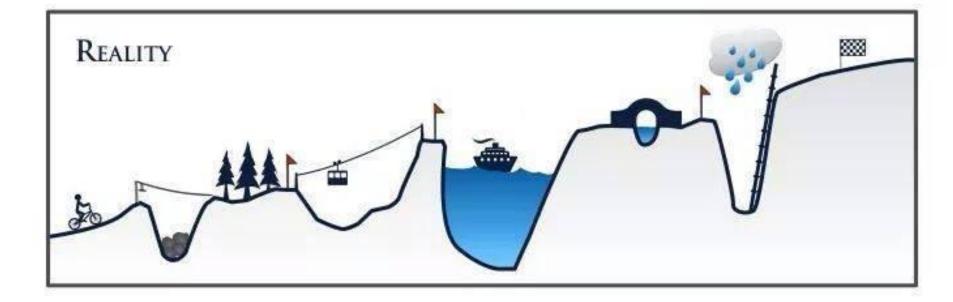

"I think a lot of people around here are confined to themselves. The majority of them don't like socialising with a lot of people". Nick, 24.

"They would be the two biggest things, having a good job and socialising a lot more". Fred, 20.

CCB: Challenges/Paradoxes

- Role of health promoter not to develop new programme called CCB...'Parallel Track'. (Labonte and Laverack , 2001a).
- Community identified, consensus may not gel with evidence base (Hounslow, 2002)
- May increase inequalities (Craig et al, 2007).
